Welcome to Clown Town: A Teen Drag Workshop

Portland's premier drag clown Carla Rossi (with intellectual support from her human avatar Anthony Hudson) attempts to chart the vast abyss of drag and its potential, addressing how drag's many varieties, flavors and houses correspond to the unchartable spectrum of genders and sexuality — with supporting looks at its legendary elders, artists and ancestors, from Two-Spirits (and other-gender shamans of the pre-settler North American continent) and the Sisters of Perpetual Indulgence to Marsha P. Johnson, Leigh Bowery, Elvira, RuPaul and Christeene. For teens only.

Tuesday, September 17, 5:30-6:30 pm

Monday, September 16, 1:30-4 pm

Failure? Who says?

Fame is a fickle thing. It's elusive. It teases, it comes, it goes. At its most mischievous, it arrives with aplomb after those seeking it have died. Dr. Bill Thierfelder explores some household names like Melville, Bach, Van Gogh and Dickinson who were practically unknown in their lifetimes despite often prodigious effort and output. None of them could have known just how famous they would become posthumously. Made possible by The National Endowment for the Humanities Fund of The Library Foundation.

Saturday, September 21, 2:30-4 pm
