Vanport: A City That Was

Vanport, the largest World War II housing project in the United States, built in a year, meant to house shipyard and defense workers, became the second-largest city in Oregon (during that time period). In its heyday, it housed 40,000 residents. On May 30, 1948, in a matter of a few hours, it disappeared forever, leaving a lasting influence on Portland. This presentation, by author Zita Podany, will summarize the rise and fall of Vanport.
